The Global and European Studies Institute at Leipzig University announces the following vacancy to be filled by January 1, 2019 or at the earliest convenience thereafter:

Lecturer (Salary Grade EG 13 TV-L, 50%)

This is a two-year position. The teaching load is 4 SWS.

Duties:

- To teach and examinate courses in English (2 courses per semester) from the spring term 2019 onwards for the Master’s programmes “Global Studies” and “European Studies”
- There is the possibility to get support for developing an independent research project in the field of Global Studies and European Studies

Application prerequisites:

- An outstanding university degree in a relevant field (PhD or Master or comparable)
- Interest in interdisciplinary cooperation in the context of teaching and research on Global and European Studies topics and issues
- Excellent English skills (level C1)
- A cooperative and team-oriented working style

Applications:

Please send your application in English (CV, degrees, themes of previous work, list of relevant publications) and include at least three different syllabi of courses that you propose to teach at GESI (please have a closer look at the study regulations for both the Global and European Studies Masters and be aware that one of the priorities in the selection process will be the fit between the suggested courses and the major program goals with regard to content and competencies).

Deadline for applications: 20.12.2018

Leipzig University seeks to promote employee diversity with respect to the biographies and competencies of its staff. Applications from persons with an international background are explicitly welcome. Severely disabled applicants with adequate qualifications will be given preference.
